DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 6, 8, 14, 15, 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Applicant claims in claim 6 that "...thickness of the lens..." and in claim 5 "...radius of curvature...". It is not clear what is the different between the "thickness of the lens" and the "radius of curvature of the lens".

The similar limitation is noticed in claim 8.

In re claims 14, 15, and 16, Applicant fails to define the definition of the "beam waist of the lens" in the claim. It is not clear what is the "beam waist of the lens".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-5, 7, 9, and 14-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Russo et al [USPAT 4,678,268].

In re claim 1, Russo et al disclose a lensed fiber comprising:

An optical fiber (numeral 1 and 4 in fig. 3); and

A lens having a neck region (narrow portion of 1 after peeling off portion 4) and a convex region (10) formed at an end of the optical fiber, the neck region having an overall diameter smaller than an outer diameter of the optical fiber.

In re claims 2, 3, 5, 7 and 3, Russo et al teach at column 4, lines 13-31, fig. 5 and fig. 6 that the diameter of the lens can adjusted and can be smaller than the outer diameter of the optical fiber.

In re claim 4, Russo et al teach at column 1, lines 45-49 and column 2, lines 37-57 that different diameter size of the optical fiber can be utilized, and specifically teach that the smaller than 150 μm optical fiber can be utilized.

In re claims 12-17, Russo et al show all the claimed structure of the optical device, therefore, the claimed characteristics of the optical fiber is considered to be inherently met by Russo et al device.

Claims 1, 2, and 9-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Khoe et al [USPAT 4,721,353].

Khoe et al disclose a lensed optical fiber comprising:

An optical fiber 11; and

A lens having a tapered neck region 12 and a convex region 3 formed at an end of the optical fiber, the neck region having an overall diameter smaller than an outer diameter of the optical fiber.

In re claims 12-17, Khoe et al show all the claimed structure of the optical device, therefore, the claimed characteristics of the optical fiber is considered to be inherently met by Russo et al device.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 6, 8, 10, 12, and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Russo et al.

Russo et al teach at column 4, lines 13-31, fig. 5 and fig. 6 that the diameter of the lens can adjusted and can be smaller than the outer diameter of the optical fiber.

In re claim 10, the claimed method of forming the device, such as "splice" is not germane to the issue of patentability of the device itself. Therefore this limitation has not given any patentable weight.
